

Pymoli Game Analysis

From the analysis I can conclude that the game's player base tends to be mainly younger adult males. These players also tend to spend more on the game on in-game purchases than the other demographics as well. However their average purchases are only the second highest behind other/non-disclosed genders. Also the most popular items and most profitable items are mostly similar aside from two items. Increasing the prices on Persuasion and Extraction, Quickblade Of Trembling Hands would most likely make them among the most profitable items as well.